

COSMIC DREAMS

Cosmic Dreams is an independent developer and publisher of games and electronic entertainment. Our overall aim is to create quality and meaningful products that beyond being fun represent inspirational, educational and positive values. The Founders of Cosmic Dreams are brothers Simon Michalski and Peter Michalski, enthusiasts of tech and culture, previously related with start-up and VC areas.

In our endeavour we want to create things that convey those values to the players and users by using means that resonate with them the most. We see electronic entertainment as an extremely potent tool to do so.

Our dream is to push entertainment software, design and engineering on the next level and discover new paths for the whole industry.

Cosmic Dreams is currently working on 2 project – developing its' first original production codename Project Astromatica and co-producing and publishing FurryFury.
